Dear Mr. [Name]

Thank you so much for the many letters and kindnesses you have shown me in the last year.
I will always look back upon the time I spent with you as the happiest of my life. I am sure that I shall never forget you.

Sincerely,

Silver Anniversary of Mount Saint Mary's College

Mount Saint Mary's College seal, designed by Baker's heraldic office of London, is in the form of a circular shield. The name of the college appears around the edge of the shield, and 1925, the date of its founding, is in the center. The shield itself has four divisions. An open book at the bottom center bears the college motto—Deus Illuminatio Mea—God My Light. At the upper center a lily surrounded by thorns symbolizes the Immaculate Conception of Mary. The fleur-de-lis of France at the upper right represents the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet, established at Le Puy in France in 1650. At the upper left three angel wings with a rose signify the city of Los Angeles. The seal thus symbolizes Mount Saint Mary's College founded in the city of Our Lady Queen of the Angels by the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet under the loving protection of Our Immaculate Mother.

MOUNT SAINT MARYS COLLEGE

Spanning the years

The gate ^{stood} stands guardian

Over those who enter.

This road is

The end of the beginning.

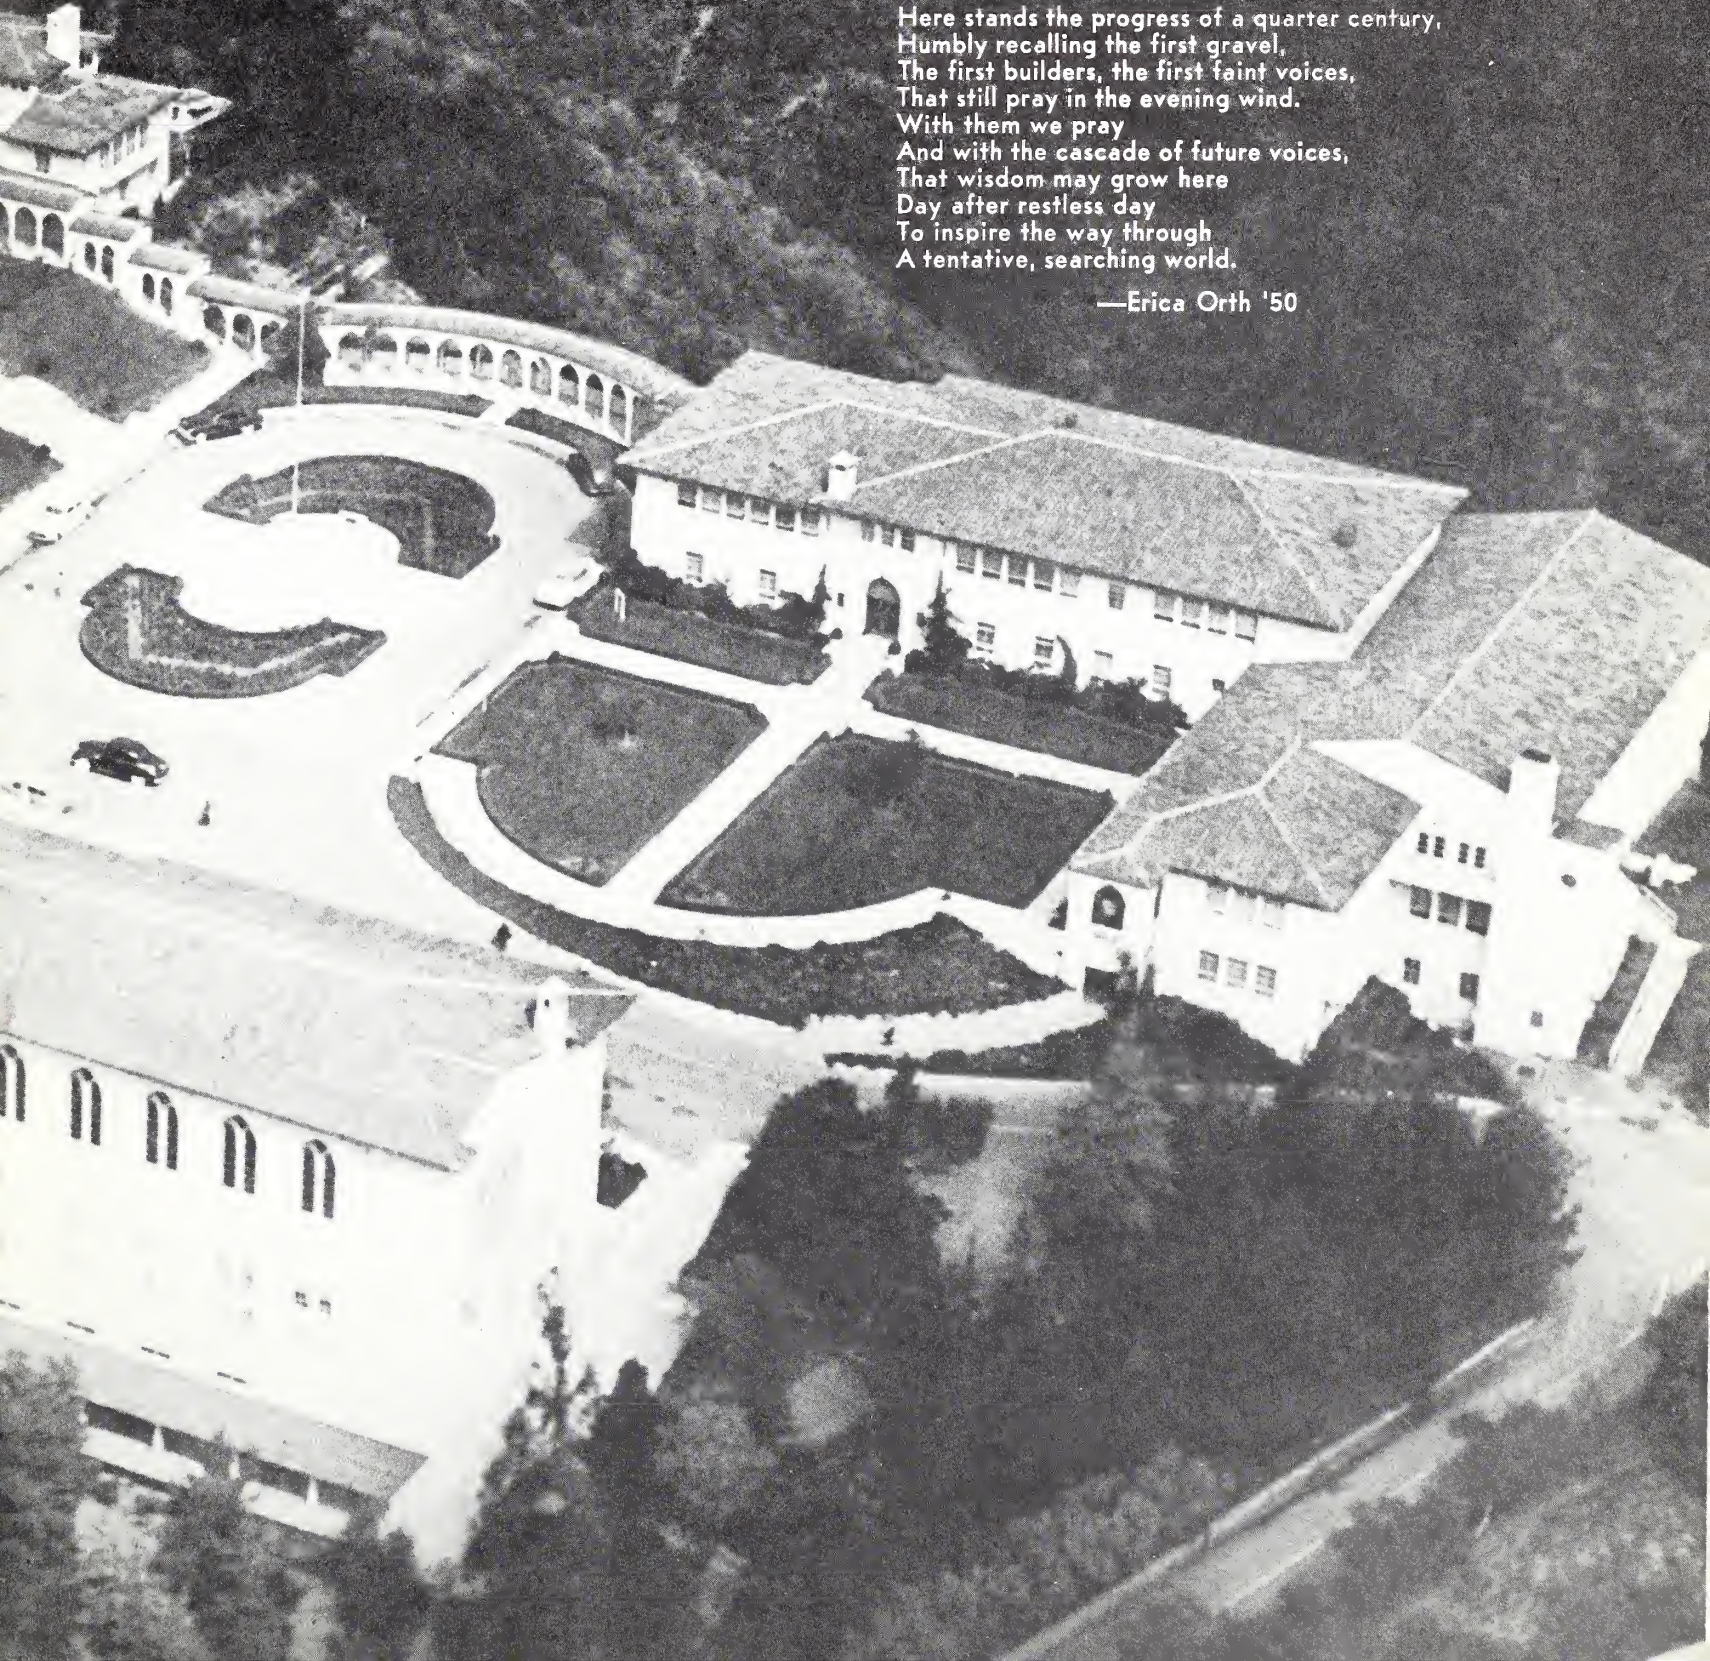

TO MOUNT SAINT MARY'S
On her Silver Anniversary

Red-shaded earth shaped
The tower of our inspiration—
This white tower of effort—
A spirit that rests here,
Silent,
Over slate-green hills.

Olives are peace—and they were planted;
Acacias for symmetry,
Eucalyptus for dignity,
Elms for grace.
These attributes of the ideal
Raised white walls
To harbor the spirit of truth.

Here stands the progress of a quarter century,
Humbly recalling the first gravel,
The first builders, the first faint voices,
That still pray in the evening wind.
With them we pray
And with the cascade of future voices,
That wisdom may grow here
Day after restless day
To inspire the way through
A tentative, searching world.

—Erica Orth '50

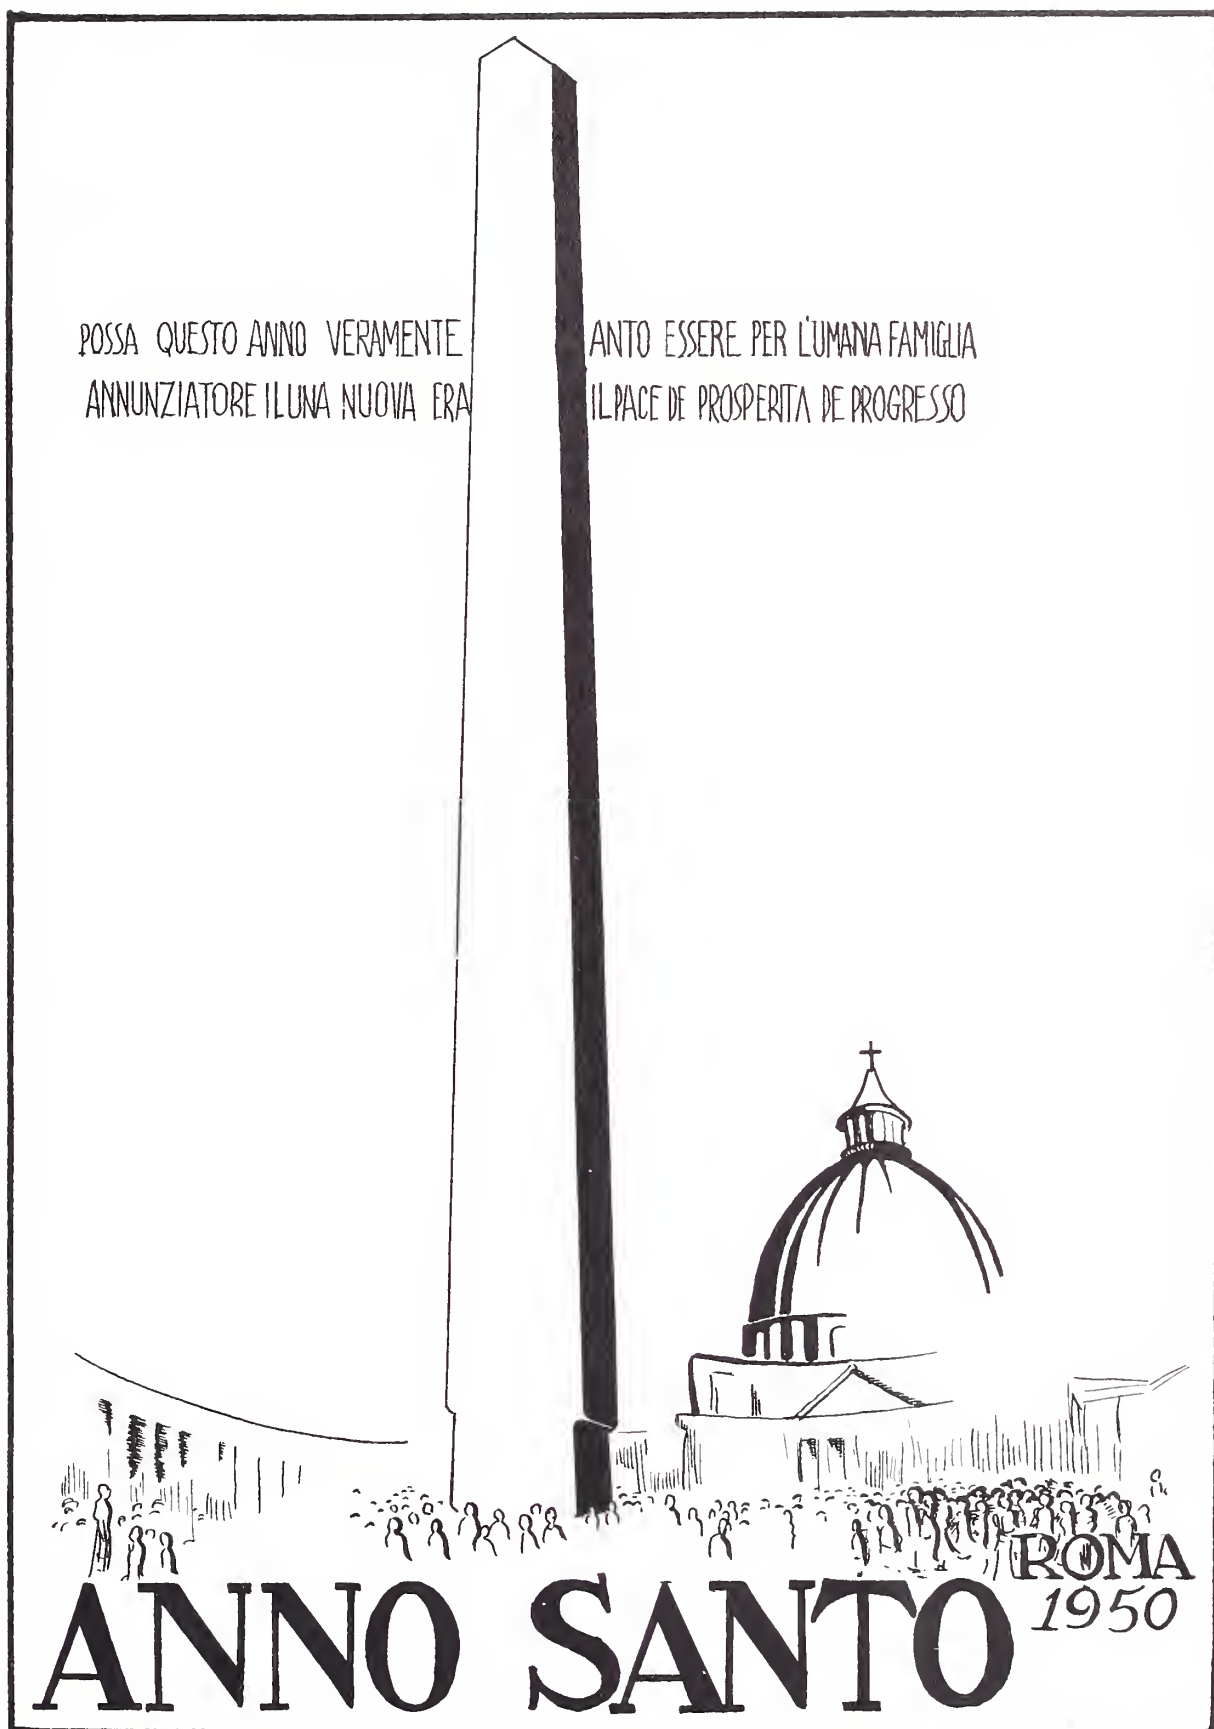

In the Papal Bulls proclaiming the Holy Year, His Holiness uses a combined text from the Old and the New Testaments: "Sanctify yourselves, and be ye holy, because I am the Lord your God."

As the life of your college coincides with the twenty-five years that have elapsed since the last Holy Year, it is fitting that the students and the alumnae join our Holy Father in the intentions for the benefit of the world that he is emphasizing in this year which marks an epoch.

These intentions exhort loyalty to our Divine Redeemer; they petition a return of the sinner to penance; they exhort that the Divine Life will illumine the lives of all; they exhort a restoration of order everywhere; the banishment of hatreds, and the increase of the Corporal Works of Mercy.

If the students and the alumnae of Mount St. Mary's College invoke and fervently join in these petitions, they will be following the injunction of "Sanctify yourselves, and be ye holy, because I am the Lord your God."

To the Graduates

The year of 1950 is a memorable one in your lives, in the memoirs of your college, in the annals of the Sisters of St. Joseph who conduct your college, and in the history of the Church—a year of jubilee, a Holy Year. For you, it represents the realization of your hopes and your endeavors of the past four years. For Mount St. Mary's College, it marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of its founding, and for the Sisters of St. Joseph, it commemorates the three-hundredth year of their establishment in far away France on October 15, 1650.

Each of these milestones completed is a triumph of faith and sacrifice. Faith and sacrifice on the part of students, parents, teachers, priests, bishops, archbishops, popes, and all who have made possible the good that has been accomplished here at Mount St. Mary's College and in the numerous institutions conducted by the Sisters of St. Joseph in our own country and in other lands.

It is our hope and our earnest prayer that this faith and these sacrifices will bear fruit in your lives so that you will be worthy of your glorious heritage — devoted members of your Church, loyal to your country, Catholic women of whom Mount St. Mary's may well be proud.

May God bless each one of you now and through the years and may His Blessed Mother keep you ever faithful to the ideals of true Catholic womanhood.

Sister Rosed Lucine

Although I rejoice with you on the successful completion of your work at the Mount, it is with real regret that I think of your leaving. Individually and as a class, you have endeared yourselves to all here by your true womanliness, your spirit of ready cooperation, and your loyalty. I feel confident that you have made these qualities part of yourselves and that you will cultivate them more strongly still. They are what today's world needs so desperately in its women.

You are leaving college in the midst of the Holy Year when our Holy Father is pleading for all men to re-consecrate themselves to Christ and to dedicate the force of their example — puny as it may seem — to returning all mankind to Christ. Answer his call to you in your everyday lives — no matter in what spheres those lives may be lived — by modeling Our Blessed Lady before a world which needs to have the ideals of purity, selflessness, solicitude for others, and devotion to what is right put, as it were, concretely before it.

My prayers and good wishes are with you. I trust that time will not weaken the impressions made on you by your association with Mount Saint Mary's and the Sisters, but rather strengthen them. Return often to renew them.

May Our Blessed Lady guide you in all you do. Never will you call on her in vain. May she never ask in vain from you.

In Memoriam

SISTER MARY IDA
Died January 7, 1950

TO SISTER IDA

I would not honor you with flowers,
lilies slim in silken albs,
or roses vain in pink crimped caps.
But if the night were mine to give,
or yet, the rain, I would call them yours eternally.

Always at night you would come,
you, whose fingers wore by day
the stains of science.
We, the home-starved ones,
remember you by night—
the comfort of your coming,
with a skirt sound
soft as feathers of a thrush
closing on his breast, with beads that chatted as you walked.
We knew your eyes
for glimpses of grey hills of home, your smile an afghan woven warm for us,
candling the lonely masque
of dark and rain.

Yes, I would give the night,
black-wimpled night,
and rain, a sweet cascade of rosary beads,
if they were mine to give.
I would call them yours eternally—more, I would call them you.

—Margaret O'Connell Knoell '41

For thirty-nine years Sister Ida, the true religious teacher, labored to acquire riches. Her childhood she gave to God; her long life she gave to God — a long life of persistent, smiling, cheerful, unselfish service. Her accumulated wealth — she carried it all with her. And this morning we can look up to heaven, see her welcomed by Almighty God and given her place among the long line of saintly St. Joseph nuns waiting there proudly to welcome her into their saintly midst. "Because thou hast been faithful over a few things, I shall place thee over many things." Faithful over a few things — rather let us say faithful over many things — and God will place her over many more. May we who are left behind, stifling our own sorrow, rejoice in her victory.

Words of Reverend Joseph A. Vaughan, S.J. at the funeral Mass for Sister Mary Ida on January 9, 1950.

SISTER STE. HELENE Died November 16, 1949

"Lord, like this candle
Am I, who aspire
To consume my body
In my spirit's fire . . ."

Alfred Barrett, S.J.

Sister Ste. Helene first quoted these lines to me nearly five years ago, and now, thinking of her, I remember them. I picture her in the auditorium of the Mount, sitting at a light brown desk, lecturing to her freshmen. In memory, Sister leans back in her chair reciting poetry to spark young imaginations. She takes off her glasses, taps them against an open book and tactfully addresses corrections to the ceiling.

In her free time, she holds uncatalogued seminars in contemporary literature and knits blue sweaters for innumerable nieces and nephews. Her thoroughness shines through in little things: the Sign of the Cross before taking even a glass of water, the insistence on a specific word, a succinct reply.

In memory, the familiar phrases Sister once said, I catch and say again: "Read books that make you grow, then measure up . . . offer each decade of your Rosary for particular intention . . . go to Europe before you get married . . . turning the heel of a sock is the easiest part . . . have you ever read the autobiography of the Little Flower? . . . why don't you write poetry. You can you know . . . love your work. I do. I want to die teaching."

Love was her candle. She burned it at both ends for Christ in Himself and in His Children. It did not last the whole night of time but burns now in the day of eternity. In heaven as on earth, it gives a lovely light.

"There is a class up at the Mount . . . "

September, 1949 brought to the top rung of the ladder seniors — elevator rides, nights out, and first in line. Being first was nothing new to this class. Remember the first student roster? They were the freshmen who published it, and the same year they became the first class to claim membership in the swimming pool Hundred Club.

Remember the first Mardi Gras with its milkmaid queen and farmer king? Wearers of kelly and gold caps arranged it and later served the first breakfast given after Baccalaureate Mass.

Remember the first junior class to sport college rings and to pass their spirit and loyalty through the Big Sister program? Remember, even more recently, the first Senior Mother's Tea and Day of Recollection? All were traditions begun by the silver jubilee class.

They not only started new traditions, but continued the old — the Deep Purple Ball, Night at the Mount, Farewell Dance, and Aloha Banquet.

"And on this class you can always count
. . . The Class of 1950!"

Dear Mother Mary, help us, the graduates of this Holy Year 1950, to be real Catholic leaders. Help of Christians, obtain for us the courage to dare to be different in the materialistic, secularistic world into which we are going. Help us to be true followers of your Son even if that following should lead to Calvary. Amen.

Under- Graduates

The Juniors

Claire Kassler—treasurer, Frances Formanek—vice-president, Angela McDonald—president, Mary Alice Connors—secretary.

Angie McDonald, president, led the class of '51 in their first junior activity, a luncheon for the freshmen. Juniors entertained student body and friends at the traditional semi-formal Starlight Waltz on October 15 in the star-ceilinged Mount Ballroom. They topped the school in the Confraternity Gift Drive for Christmas presents for underprivileged children. President Angie McDonald, Lupita Bernstein, Mary Ellen Gray, and Mary Jean Hoxmeier recited the Family Rosary over the radio. On junior night out they hissed the villain in The Drunkard at the Theatre Mart, and senior rings reminded them in April that "it won't be long." The Junior-Senior Prom at the Santa Monica Beach Club on May 13 highlighted the year. Guests danced to the music of LaVerne Boyer and his orchestra. On class day juniors dressed in seers' robes to prophesy the fate of the seniors. Hostessing open house for the new graduates and carrying the traditional ivy chain closed Volume III. The Sophomores

Kathleen Long—treasurer, Ellen Murphy—president, Eileen Micklish—vice-president, Rita Blacksmith—secretary.

Blue and grey hats topped the sophomores as they opened the year's activities with the freshman-welcome swimming party. Sophs swirled at the "Sea-Side Slide," boomed first and high in the Community Chest Drive, had the whole student body bobbing for apples at the Halloween party. Soph flappers made Dad nostalgic for his courting days on Father-Daughter Night. After rummaging for toys for the SWES drive and proving their dramatic talent in "Once in Bethlehem," sophomores' Christmas spirit was high—and genuine. The traditional Mardi Gras on February 17 and the St. Patrick's Day Party in March officially closed the sophomore social date book. They joined in prayer, study, work, and fun until June; then packed suitcases, emptied lockers, and embarked for home to return next September as upper-classmen.

The Freshmen

Mary Gertrude Creutz—secretary, Mary Alice Zalesny—treasurer, E'Lane McCaffrey—president, Dorothea Deutsch—1st vice-president, Ann Scott—2nd vice-president.

On September 15, 1949, approximately 150 curious and awed freshmen arrived at the Mount. It didn't take them long to become part of the crowd, but they had to prove themselves first. During Green Week they played bell-hop, went on a treasure-hunt tour of the campus, swam in the new pool, and greeted each day with another kind of "hello." They topped the week with versatility and fine showmanship in the Frosh Frolic. They scooped the family album to tell all on "Father as a Boy" and helped to make Father-Daughter Night a date to remember. Frosh boarders planned the Halloween dinner and decorated the dining room. The roster, in spite of odds, was ready by the promised date to assure correct addresses on all Christmas cards. The frosh boarder Christmas party climaxed first semester social activities. Their Valentine dance on February 11 encouraged all to "be a cupid and bring your beau." At the end of their first successful year the freshmen would like it understood, however, that they could not have been the class they are, with the spirit they have, without their beloved Sister Mary Ida. She was, and still is, their inspiration.

The Student Council met bi-weekly on alternate Wednesday noons and evenings, led by alert and efficient student body president, Betsy Knieriem. Planning student activities, entertainments, and student body meetings; dispensing student funds wisely; and promoting cooperation and a spirit of loyalty within the student body were the main responsibilities of this group which acted as coordinating committee for college organizations. The council, made up of student body officers, class presidents, representatives-at-large, and the social secretary, appreciated the wise support of their moderator, Sister Rose de Lima.

Guest Speakers

REVEREND FATHER JOHN BIRCH
1950 Retreat Master
"Pray thoughtfully and think prayerfully."

DOCTOR BEN ARI
Professor from the University of Jerusalem.
"The only geography book one needs in Jerusalem is the Bible."

MR. ARCHIE McCULLOUGH
President of International Relations Club at Pepperdine College
"Student orientation is all important to the future success of the United Nations."

SISTER JAMES and SISTER CONSTANCE
Medical Missionary Sisters
"The people in greatest need for missionary work are the people of India."

FATHER XAVIER
From the diocese of Tuticorin, which has recently been adopted by the Sodality through the recommendation of Father Brouwers.
"The Catholic Church is the United Nations . . . A barrier to the unity of mankind is the Eastern attitude that the West is a workshop, and the Western picture of the East as a curiosity shop."

REVEREND FATHER HENRY ALKER
Pastor of Resurrection Church in Los Angeles
"The Mass is not a private prayer . . . nor the public prayer of pious people . . . it is a giving, an offering, a sacrifice."

LUIS F. ORRANTIA
Consul of Ecuador
"Pan Americanism isn't just a word."

DR. RUTH TEMPLE
Of the Community Health Association
"Racial prejudice is not inborn. It is the result of the modern world's failure to understand the solidarity of the human race."

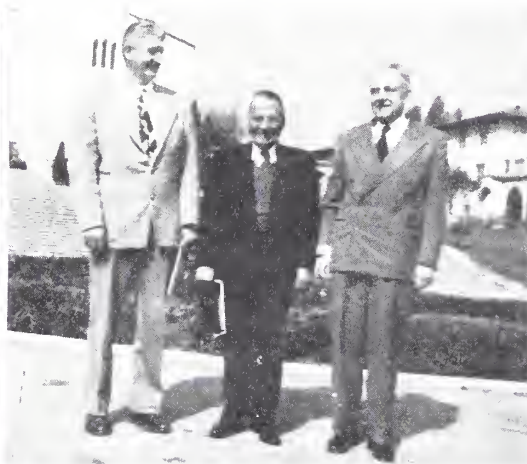

DUCHESSE de la ROCHEFOUCAULD
French writer and lecturer
"The Frenchwoman's primary concern is still her home and her children in spite of her new political interests."

REVEREND FATHER GABRIEL MENANGER, S.J.
Assistant professor of French at Loyola University
"Instead of being so scrupulous in following the book concerning children, parents should rather listen to God's admonishing, which is both consoling and encouraging."

REVEREND FATHER EDWIN P. CONNOLLY
Archdiocesan director of the Sodality in Los Angeles
"The sodality is concerned primarily with the personal holiness of its members, and then it demands of its members lives of apostolic zeal."

DR. STAFFORD L. WARREN
Dean and professor of bio-physics at UCLA
"With the same resources of men, money, and material used in atomic bomb development, cancer can be overcome."

DR. THOMAS PEYTON
Staff member of Queen of Angels Hospital
"I was cursing the darkness, and all I had to do was to light one candle... the future is bright."

CAROL JACKSON
Co-editor of "Integrity"
"The intellectual apostolate has the duty to learn truth and to give it to others... there will be an accounting before God of wasted abilities... holiness will supply the intellect's lack."

Boarder Life
